Public Disclosure Notice

The following public information is provided by the Commission on Accreditation in Physical Therapy Education (CAPTE) regarding the

Physical Therapist Assistant Program
University of Pittsburgh at Titusville
Titusville, PA

CAPTE is a specialized accrediting agency that accredits physical therapy educational programs across the United States. The information presented below is in accord with CAPTE's disclosure policy; staff of the Commission cannot comment further on questions specifically related to the physical therapist assistant education program at University of Pittsburgh at Titusville.

On October 29, 2019, the Commission on Accreditation in Physical Therapy Education made the following decision regarding the physical therapist assistant education program at University of Pittsburgh at Titusville:

Continue Probationary Accreditation based on a Good Cause Effort

What is the program's Accreditation Status?
Probationary Accreditation

Probationary Accreditation is an accredited status; students who graduate from the program while it is on probation are considered to be graduates of an accredited program. Probationary accreditation indicates that there are conditions at the program that place the program's accreditation in jeopardy and provides notice to the program and the public that if the program does not address the identified conditions, accreditation will be withdrawn.

Why is the program on probation?
CAPTE's decision to continue Probationary Accreditation is based on the program's inability to demonstrate compliance with the Standards and Required Elements, such that the program's ability to provide an appropriate educational experience is in question. While CAPTE recognizes the program as demonstrating a good cause effort to come into compliance, the program was judged to be out of compliance with the following required element(s): 1C2.

What options does the program have to respond?
The decision to place a program on probation may not be appealed. The program has been asked to file a Compliance Report due March 1, 2020 that addresses the issues identified by the Commission. The Commission will review the Compliance Report at its April 24-28, 2020 meeting. Upon review of the report, the Commission may

- remove probation if the report satisfies the Commission's concerns, or
- continue probation if the report satisfies some but not all of the Commission's concerns, or
- withdraw accreditation if the report does not satisfy the Commission's concerns and the Commission believes that the program is not making a good cause effort to do so.

OFFICIAL COMMENTS FROM THE PHYSICAL THERAPIST ASSISTANT PROGRAM

During our most recent CAPTE review in April, the program was notified that its placement on Probationary Accreditation Status was a direct result of falling below the required threshold on licensure board pass rates, which requires a minimum of 85% averaged over two years. The program is working diligently and swiftly to rectify the only compliance issue of licensure pass rates by instituting a variety of positive changes aimed at improving pass rates. Among the notable changes are restructuring of the program admission requirements, modification to curriculum content and layout, and inclusion of new courses for therapeutic exercise and a board exam review course. We expect the probationary period to be short-lived. We remain fully committed to continuing the high degree of success that our program, students, and graduates have enjoyed over the years.

Sincerely,
